Conference Focuses on Art

The New Mexico Art Education Association is sponsoring the sixth Four Corners Art Education Conference Thursday through Sunday, Oct. 7, at the Clifton Four Seasons in Albuquerque. Art educators from Colorado, Arizona, Utah and New Mexico will exchange information on art techniques and new educational trends. Presentations will be offered in computer graphics, computer application for basic art curriculum and integration of art and science. Special guest speaker will be Dr. Melvin Preisler, a Los Alamos physicist, who will talk on computer graphics. Other speakers will be Dr. Jean Unsworth of Loyola University ("Chicago's New Children's Art Museum"), Dr. Roy Abrahamson of Southern Illinois University ("Art and the Exceptional Child") and Dr. Irving Kaufman of City University of New York ("Art Education in Contemporary Society"). A delegation of four art educators from Austria also will be attending the conference and will make a presentation at 10:15 a.m. Friday. Register at the conference. Call Andrea Rector at 865-7644 for further information.

"IRRECONCILABLE DIFFERENCES IS A COMPLETE DELIGHT."
It takes comedy to your heart. Ryan O'Neal's best picture since "What's Up, Doc?" Three cheers for Shelley Long. A magnificent comedienne—an Oscar nomination for sure.
