

The Alamo Lounge will have its last night of music Nov. 13 before moving to its excellent new location at 3023 Guadalupe with a new name, Emmajoe's club.

But before owners Martin Wington and Bobby J. Nelson move, they have an unusually strong lineup of music for this final week.

This evening Butch Hancock performs a twilight concert from 5 to 7:30 p.m., followed by Townes Van Zandt and his long-time accompanist and superb acoustic guitarist, Mickey White. Friday, it's Nanci Griffith, Saturday David Rodriguez, Sunday Guanella Pass, and Monday Lucinda.

Then Tuesday, wondrous Rosalie Sorrels returns. She's a far bigger national star than the size of the Alamo can justify, but she loves the spot, and this is her way of showing her respect for it and its owners, Martin and Bobby.
