

VanZandt concert at Bucknell

Townes VanZandt, who wrote the title song of the new Willie Nelson and Merle Haggard album "Pancho and Lefty," will perform at 8 p.m. Jan. 29 in the Forum, University Center, Bucknell University, Lewisburg.

Also performing will be his accompanist, Mickey White.

VanZandt is known for his Texas country and folk music. His compositions have been recorded by such musicians as Emmylou Harris. Her version of "If I Needed You" reached number one on the country hit charts in 1982.

The concert is sponsored by the Bucknell Progressive Caucus and MSG Productions. Tickets may be purchased in advance from the university box office or the Rhythm Stick in Lewisburg or at the door the night of the concert.
