

THE MUSIC HYPE

David Bromberg's Band fantastic!!!

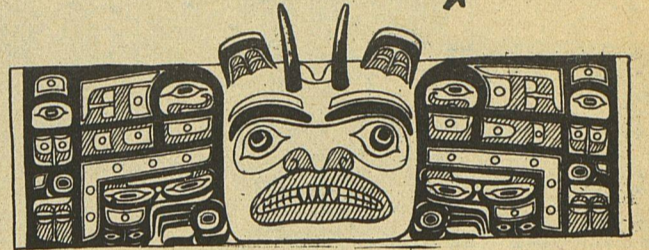

Oh yeah I remember Dave Bromberg from a couple of years ago, he sang Jerry Jeff's hit "Mr. Bojangles" and practically ran it into the ground. Well, Bromberg finally made it to Texas with his band of jazz-city/country amazing musicians. A sideman that played with Walker and Dylan, Bromberg seems highly competent leading his group while he plays guitar, mandolin, fiddle, dobro and sings blues, bluegrass, Dylan, traditional as well as his original New York city style. His sidemen include Jay Ungar on mandolin and fiddle, Bob Garland one of the few walking trumpets, Billy Novick on saxophones, clarinets, penny whistle and harmonica, Tony Markellis on electric bass. Together they play some of the finest music heard since Uncle Walt's band passed through from South Carolina hills. Bromberg has a rather unique voice, if you can imagine Allen Sherman and Neil Young emanating from the tallest nebbish cartoon character this side of a Virgo moon. Their new album Wanted Dead or Alive on Columbia was enough to make me curious if they could sound that fantastic live; fascinated beyond bullshit they really are excellent to be such a bunch of relatively young swimmers.

Sitting in with Dave and group (OB's) was Jerry Jeff, Townes Van Zandt and Steve Keith (Mason Williams' fiddler) and listening in the audience was Willis Ramsey and Doug Sahm...enjoyable with just enough excitement when Jimmie Day sat in on pedal steel. Blind or deaf its still excellent music. Blew me away.....
